President John Fitzgerald Kennedy

May 29, 1917 -- November 22, 1963

MEMORIAL

We, the graduating class of 1964, dedicate our yearbook to the memory of our late president, John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

We wish not only to dedicate this one small book, but to dedicate, as he did, our lives in living memory of all the great and good exemplified by his life.

President Kennedy left an impression on each and everyone of us. We begin our adult lives with the hope that we can follow the example he set for all Americans. If each of us could love and serve mankind, as he did, we would be helping greatly in making this a better world in which to live.

Reggie can be described by only one word--hilarious. His quick wit and excellent choice of words have sent more than one of us into fits of laughter. At ease in any situation, one can always count on him for a sensible opinion when others are in a state of frenzy. Ronald, although one of the quieter members of the class, has been one of its greatest assets. He has helped to make every class project a success by his untiring efforts. He recruited his mother's artistic abilities for the Junior Prom and Senior Play, and he did a fine job securing properties for the production. His sincerity, willingness to cooperate and fine disposition are certain to lead him to success. Upon graduation, Ronald intends to go into the business field.

Activities: Glee Club 2,3,4; Sophomore Social; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Senior Social; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

Whenever there is a conversation about cars, Dean is certain to take an active part. His interest in automobiles and his knowledge about them have made him a much envied person. And how can we ever forget Dean's portrayal of the janitor in the Senior Play. "Poor Ole' Tony" stole the show. Dean's willingness to work hard, his ability to handle life's situations, and his easy-going nature are certain to place him on the road to success. Dean hopes to enter the Coast Guard after graduation.

Activities: Sophomore Social; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

"Prunes" is the class imitator. He is always trying to bring a chuckle to everyone he meets. He likes to draw and has done some very fine work on our Barretone. As a member of the Scriptus staff, he brought Boys' Club news to the student body. Jim is a member of the Boys' Club Junior staff and was chosen "Boy of the Year" by the Club. He was a valuable addition to the baseball team and helped them to win their games. We all wish him luck in the coming years in his chosen profession of photography.

As Business Manager for the Barretone, she spent many hours to see that all the ads were done correctly, and she put in many hours in the Coke Room helping us earn the money for the class trip to Washington. "Arey" will always be remembered by his classmates for his good looks and witty ways. His lively disposition and gift of humor give him the power to raise anyone's spirits. He has turned many a dull class into a good one. Gene's natural athletic ability has been a tremendous asset to both the basketball and baseball teams for the past four years. Her backstage help in the Senior Play added greatly to its success. Mary often can be found in the Typing Room working on material for one of the members of the faculty. After graduation Mary plans to enter Ollis Beauty Academy, where she will study to become a hair stylist. With her she takes the best wishes of the class.

Pat is always ready to lend a helping hand whenever there is work to be done. Her typing ability has proven to be a great asset to the faculty of Barre High. She can always be seen busily working in the Commercial Department. Pat played her part well in the Senior Play. We wish her the best of luck with her job as a secretary.

RONALD CALVIN PHELPS

OCTOBER 10

"Ronnie" is one of the quieter members of the class. He goes about things in a calm and collected manner, and he has been a great deal of help to us in working on class activities. Ronnie plans to be an automobile mechanic in the future, and we hope that no wrench gets in the machinery to spoil things for our pleasant, friendly classmate.

Activities: Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

ROBERT FRANCIS PULIAFICO

"Pully" is one of the most valuable members of the class. He has always been handy when we needed help. Perhaps we will best remember Bob as our Donald Duck character. He has worked on many of the class activities, and for the past two years, he has been a valuable addition to the basketball and baseball teams.

Activities: Band 1,2,3,4; Basketball 1, 3,4; Baseball 3,4; Sophomore Social; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Senior Bazaar; Senior Social; Senior Play.

Well-dressed Judy always has a pleasing appearance. Fun loving and carefree best describe her. Yet, she readily puts fun aside to work for her class whenever she is called upon. She has an abundance of school spirit, as is shown by her almost perfect attendance at basketball games and other school activities. With all her "gaddin about" she still manages to keep her marks up. We wish her luck in the future.

Activities: Basketball 1,2; Sophomore Social; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Senior Bazaar; Senior Social; Commerical Club 3,4; Senior Play; Barretone.

"Dee" is one of the wittier members of the class. Whenever there is laughter you are sure to find her close by. She is always willing to work when duty calls. The class will always appreciate the time she devoted to tickets for the Senior Play. Although Dee's future plans are still undecided, with such desirable assets, Delores is sure to succeed.

Activities: Girls Chorus 3; Commerical Club 4; Junior Prom; Junior Supper; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

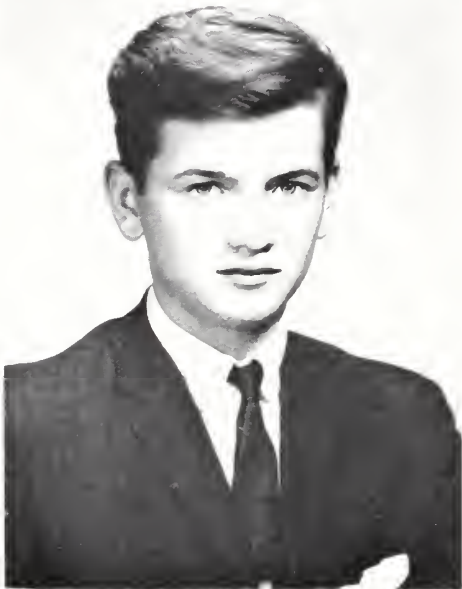

Milton is one of the hardest workers in our class. He has taken a large part in practically everthing our class has done, and he is always willing to do more. We will always remember Milton as "Norman," the handsome journalism instructor in the Senior Play. He is one of the most important members of the Special Choir and his Tenor voice adds much to every song. Because Milton is interested in Agriculture, we are sure he will be right at home in the Stockbridge School which he will attend in the fall.

Activities: Prize Speaking 1; Glee club 2, 3, 4; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Special Choir 4; Senior Bazaar; Senior Social; Senior Play.

Wayne, the mechanic of the Senior Class, can usually be found working industriously at Beard's Garage. Whenever anyone has a question about a car, Wayne can be counted on to have an answer. We will never forget his performance as Buck O'Hara, the handsome football player, in the Senior Play. Wayne will always be remembered as a sincere friend to all of us.
Activities: Basketball 1; Sophomore Social; Junior Prom; Junior Supper; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

We will always remember John as quiet but a lot of fun. He was always a valuable asset to the Senior class in every project we undertook. Although he is known as "quiet," he is one of the best singers in the Special Choir, and has been a member of the Glee Club since he began his studies at Barre High. During the Senior Play, John was the "man behind the scenes" working the lights. We all wish him luck in his future plans.
Activities: Glee Club 2,3,4; Special Choir 4; Baseball Manager 2; Junior Prom; Junior Supper; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

Gentle, refined and sensitive are words to describe Linda. She possesses the charm of simplicity. Sweet, thoughtful grace is as much a part of Linda as light is of day. She can often be found in the Commercial Office "helping". We don't know what we would have done without her help on the Senior Play Book and the Barretone. Although Linda is very quiet, she is popular with all her classmates. Linda intends to go to England after graduation where she hopes to further her education. We all wish her the best of luck in her chosen field as a laboratory technician.
Activities: Sophomore Social; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Commercial Club 3,4; Senior Play; Senior Bazaar; Playbook.

ANITA RAE SWANSON

OCTOBER 27

Blonde hair and blue eyes best describe Anita. She has added life and vigor to the cheerleading squad for the past three years. Willingness and dependability are two of Anita's qualities which have been major assets in adding to the success of class functions. Her typing ability has made her very helpful in the Commercial Department. Anita hopes to become a Social Worker in the future, and we wish her the best.

Activities: Girls Basketball 1; Cheerleading 2,3,4; Glee Club 2,3,4; Baton 2; Commercial Club 3.

KEVIN RICHARD WARD

JANUARY 9

Kevin's happy-go-lucky attitude makes him a popular member of the class, and hides his willingness to work hard. Among his other abilities, Kevin proved himself to be an actor in the Senior Play. Activities: Sophomore Social; Glee Club 2,3,4; Junior Supper; Junior Prom; Special Chorus 4; Senior Bazaar; Senior Play.

She has a true sense of values, and she has proven herself a dependable worker. Nancy hopes to teach in the future.

JUNIOR

The night of May 10, 1963 finally arrived, bringing the long anticipated Junior Prom. As we passed under the flower laden trellises, we left the rain and dismal skies outside, and entered our Oriental Garden. The shining fountain lent an air of natural beauty to the many multi-colored flower beds which were scattered beneath in gay profusion. Oriental letters, Japanese lanterns and a full length mural depicting the countryside all added to the atmosphere of the Far East.

Our chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lylis, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Falco, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jordan, and Mr. and Mrs. Philli Decelle, all sat in wicker chairs below a gayly painted orange pagoda as we danced the night away to the music of Reggie Wallett.

Our intricate, but well executed, grand march began the evening, but the ring ceremony was the highlight of the night. The class received their rings from the officers who were assisted by four tiny ring bearers: Cynthia Puliafico, Daniel Sullivan, Dana Blackmer, and Maryann Neri.

After the dance the class enjoyed dinner at the Old Mill in Westminster.

PROM

SAYONARA

Junior Prom Time, Oriental Style
 Makes our hearts beat joyfully, with
 As we meet here tonight
 Memories will linger through the years
 At Barre High and this lovely night
 This our ring song that we now plight.
 Good-Night.

Junior Prom Time has arrived at last
 And we'll go on dancing, As the hours go past
 Neath the Eastern Moonlight.
 For we all know, that soon
 Dawn will come, and this festive dream will leave.
 But in our hearts there will remain
 Prom Time of sixty-three.

SENIOR

Bazaar

Saturday, October 12 was the day of our Senior Bazaar. As usual, the Bazaar was held on the Barre Common.

Ted Lylis was chosen general chairman and Terry Falco was chosen chairman of the HoBo-Hop which took place in the evening. Mr. Crowne was the faculty advisor.

There was plenty of fun for everyone that windy day. It consisted of games, prizes, gas karts, pony rides, concessions, a rummage sale, a food sale, a car wash, and general entertainment. Of course, apples, cider, and winter squash were sold.

We'll always remember Joe Fleming as the very friendly clown.

ALUMNI SOCIAL

The social was held at Ruggles Lane Auditorium on December 20. We had a great deal of fun preparing for the dance, especially getting together to decorate the hall and trim the lovely tree which glowed on the stage all evening.

The social opened in a most appropriate way, with the singing of Christmas carols by some members of the Senior Class. Miss Chase accompanied us at the piano, while Mr. Truran directed us. After the chorus sang, Nancy Woodland entertained us with a solo of "White Christmas." Soon, everyone joined in the singing.

After the Christmas spirit was thus aroused, Santa came to keep it alive. After he had distributed gifts to the alumni in his jolly manner, he wished us a final "Merry Christmas" and was on his way.

Of course, the rest of the evening was spent dancing and having an enjoyable time.

We wish to express our gratitude to Mrs. O'Neill for her help in planning the social. We also want to thank Miss Chase and Mr. Truran for the time and effort they gave our class to make this a memorable night.

Senior Play

The dates, February 14 and 15, 1964, will always be remembered by the Senior Class of Barre High School; for on these dates nineteen members of the Senior Class began, and probably ended, their acting careers. This year's presentation was "Curtain Going Up," a comedy in three acts, directed by Mrs. Edward O'Neill and Mrs. Russell Hopkins.

Due to the large cast, half of the class's members had a chance to display their acting abilities, while all the other class members helped behind the scenes, worked on the playbook, and did the numerous other jobs that go into making a play a success.

The play was concerned with all the problems and comic situations that arise when a group of high school students put on a play.

Poor young Miss Burgess, vividly portrayed by Barbara Brown, was faced with many comic obstacles while directing her first play. Among her myriad problems were the following: a grouchy janitor with a sharp tongue (Dean Metcalfe), the disappearance of the playbooks the first day of rehearsal a charming young heroine who became stagestruck (Betty Ann Blackmer), her bewildered and somewhat jealous boyfriend (Kevin Ward), a campus "actor" with a swollen head (Richard Keddy), the disgruntled athlete who felt out of place as an actor (Wayne Smith), a flamboyant professional actress with unwanted advice (Joyce Neri), a banker's daughter (Teri Benedict), driven to theft and dirty tricks by her father's (Reggie Lang) ambitions, ridicule and criticism from teachers Betty Neylon and Irene March--and, perhaps most unexpected of all, a romance with a fellow teacher (Milton Scott) for young Miss Burgess herself!

In addition to these cast members, there were other students, including Jane Cutting, Terry Falco, Nancy Woodland, Judy Regienus, and Ted Lylis, all of whom kept things hopping throughout the play. In the play within the play, Terry acted the part of stage manager, Judy was in charge of costumes and make-up, and Nancy handled the publicity. Jane was the "very attractive little villainess," and Ted played the part of the old family retainer, black-face and all. We still remember him as "that slow moving creature." Pat Petronis and Sandra Jordan, mothers of two of the girls, played small but effective parts.

Almost everything that could happen did happen, and some things happened that weren't even supposed to happen! Action was the main ingredient of the play: gun shots, students running down the center aisle of the auditorium, a visit by a mouse, and even the Junior usherettes chasing Wayne around the auditorium, were only a small part of the action that helped make our play enjoyable.

The Senior Class would like to thank Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Hopkins for their patience and fine direction. We are also grateful to Mrs. James Keans for her fine help with make-up, to Mr. Russell Hopkins for his help with the scenery, and to Mr. Merton Baker for his superb timing with the sound effects.

We would like to extend our thanks to those people who bought ads, to our parents, friends, and patrons, who helped us to make our play a success

Crew

Class Trip

It didn't take the seniors long to get out of bed on the morning of April 20; in fact, we were up long before six o'clock! Why were we such "early birds"? The answer is really quite simple--It was the day of departure for our long-awaited class trip.

At six-thirty we boarded the bus. This was the first year the seniors chose to travel by bus. There were thirty-six students along with Mr. & Mrs. Peter Zona and Mr. & Mrs. Gary Blazis. We were on our way at last!

After a long, but pleasant, bus ride we arrived in Washington. Since we were all rather tired, we were given the remainder of the day and the evening to do or see what we wished.

First on our schedule the next day was a tour of the city by bus. We were very fortunate to have a very interesting guide who added many points of interest to our tour which were not included in the schedule. The first building we visited was the Bureau of Printing and Engraving where all the paper currency in the United States is printed. Next we traveled to the Capitol Building where we saw the Rotunda and the Statuary Room where some Seniors posed for a picture in front of the statue of the beloved "Henry Clay." Next we went into the House Chambers where the Representatives meet, and then to the Senate which was in session. Back on the bus, we traveled past the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, and finally reached Arlington Cemetery to witness the changing of the Honor Guard at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and then a short visit at the grave of President John F. Kennedy. After a delicious lunch of "chicken-in-the-rough" at the Penn Daw in Alexandria, we went to visit Mount Vernon, the colonial home of George and Martha Washington. Kept in the style of the period in which it was built, the house is very beautiful. From the east side of the house, formerly the Terrace, the wide Potomac River stretches forth. It was really beautiful. Next we saw the Supreme Court in session. It was marvelous to see the honorable judges of the land in their robes judging a case.

Wednesday we were up bright and early to begin our last tours in Washington. First on the schedule was a tour of the White House, the home of the Presidents of the United States. As we waited in a long line outside the White House, we saw the helicopter which took President Johnson to the opening of the World's Fair. The White House made us all wish that someday we might live there in the loveliest house in Washington. Then it was off to the Washington Monument where some ambitious seniors took the time to climb it to the very top. Since we were all interested in the home of Mrs. John Kennedy, we traveled next to her home in Georgetown. The next stop was at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception where we had lunch. In the afternoon we visited the Ford Theater where Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, and then crossed the street to the house where he died. The last tour that afternoon consisted of the Smithsonian Institute. The remainder of the day was free for we would be leaving early the next morning for the World's Fair.

We arrived at the World's Fair about noon and we spent the rest of the day and the early evening there. I am sure that none of the seniors will ever forget the many things we saw there. It isn't very often that you see the King of Jordan or the various dignitaries from all over the world that we saw there. Those of us who were lucky enough to take the helicopter trip around the Fair saw everything on the Fair Grounds in less than a half hour. The many buildings were simply breathtaking and the entertainment was also marvelous. We are all very glad that our trip included this once-in-a-lifetime event.

That evening when we finally arrived at the Hotel Taft in New York City most of the weary seniors went "out on the town" for this was the only night we would spend in New York. The next morning we were free to go shopping or to Radio City Music Hall, which was only a block from our hotel.

At two-thirty we left for our tour of China Town and then we started on our long trip back to Barre. At ten o'clock Friday night, thirty-six exhausted, but happy, students arrived back at Barre High, and were warmly welcomed by parents and friends. Tired, but contented, we went home to bed to dream of the fun we had on our Senior Trip.

History

It's graduation time now. It hardly seems possible that our four years at Barre High School have come to an end. They have been happy years, and the fun and excitement that they have held will always remain in our memories.

The Class of 1964 had its beginning on one bright sunny day in September, 1960. We were 50 frightened freshmen that day, as we timidly walked through the hallowed halls of Barre High School for the first time. At our first class meeting, under the guidance of our class advisors, Mr. Pitisci and Mr. Monroe, we elected as officers: Ray Bryant, President; Gene Onorato, Vice President; Joyce Neri, Secretary and Jane Cutting, Treasurer. Terry Falco was chosen Student Council Representative. The class selected red and white for its colors and wrote a class cheer in preparation for the Freshman Assembly.

The upperclassmen proved to be superior magazine salesmen, and as a result, on the day of the Ice Cream Social, we found ourselves at the back of the assembly hall doing deep-knee-bends.

After we became accustomed to our new schedules, many freshmen participated in sports and school activities. Ray Bryant represented the freshmen class on the Varsity basketball team that won the Tri-State Tournament in 1961. Gene Onorato, Bob Puliafico, Wayne Smith, Ted Lylis and Richard Robinson constituted a large part of the Junior Varsity team. One of the freshman girls, Barbara Brown, was selected to help cheer the teams on. The girls took an active interest in basketball too. Judy Regienus, Anita Swanson and Jane Cutting were on the girls' team.

Spring arrived, and with it the Prize Speaking and the Callahan Contests. Ted Lylis and Richard Keddy won first and third prizes respectively in the Prize Speaking Contest, and Ted also placed first in the Callahan Contest.

The following September we again mounted the steps of Barre High School, still as underclassmen, but this time with a little more assurance and confidence. We were all united in one classroom, with Mrs. Upham as our advisor. Thanks to her patience and her helpful guidance our Sophomore year progressed very smoothly. At our first meeting, class officers for the year were elected. Ted Lylis was chosen President; Gene Onorato, Vice President; Jane Cutting, Secretary and Barbara Brown, Treasurer. Nancy Woodland was chosen Student Council Representative.

The most important undertaking of the school year was our Sophomore Social. Barbara Brown was chairman, and with the co-operation of the class, and the experienced supervision of Mrs. Upham and Mr. Baker, the Social was a huge success. The entertainment consisted of a solo by Nancy Woodland, a fashion show, an appearance of the "Mcguire Sisters" and also our own "All American Boy." Later everyone enjoyed dancing and refreshments.

The afternoon of the Ice Cream Social found the Sophomores busy entertaining the wild Seniors. I don't think we will ever forget Henry and Liza!

As the basketball season rolled around, our class showed an even greater interest in sports. Gene Onorato, Ray Bryant, Ted Lylis, Bob Perkins, John Brewer and Ricky Robinson played on the boys' teams. Playing for the girls' team were Judy Regienus and Sandra Jordan. Representing our class on the cheerleading squad were Barbara Brown, Jane Cutting and Anita Swanson.

In the Prize Speaking Contest, Richard Keddy won third prize for the boys. He was the only Sophomore who entered, and he did a fine job representing our class.

Again we managed to pass final exams, and endured the excitement of commencement. We all enjoyed being Sophomores, but we anxiously awaited our Junior year, and the title of "upperclassmen."

In September, 1962, we returned to Barre High School as proud Juniors. We were then upperclassmen, and we walked through the halls and corridors of Barre High with confidence. Under the leadership of Mr. Decelle, we were able to plan an eventful year. At our first class meeting Ted Lylis was elected President; Bob Perkins, Vice President; Barbara Brown, Secretary and Terry Falco, Treasurer. Teri Benedict was chosen Student Council Representative.

As Juniors we took second place in the Magazine Drive, which left us to watch the hungry Seniors devouring ice cream.

Basketball and cheerleading were still main interests of the Class of '64. Representing our class on the Varsity team were Ray Bryant, Gene Onorato, Ned Berthiaume and Bob Puliafico. Richard Robinson was on the J.V. team. The Junior cheerleaders were Barbara Brown, Anita Swanson and Jane Cutting.

Our Junior year was more active socially. We had two food sales which were very successful, and a spaghetti supper in January which was very well attended. Terry Falco was chairman of this event, and the whole class worked very hard to make this supper successful. Our class trip fund began to grow steadily.

After the supper, the Class of '64 began planning for the Junior Prom which was to be held on the 10th of May. Teri Benedict and Terry Falco were co-chairmen for this event. Prom meetings were held regularly at Betty Neylon's home. Remember all the paper flowers and popcorn strings we made? The theme of the Prom was "Oriental Garden," and our theme song was "Sayonara." The night of May 10, 1963 we will always recall as one of the most memorable occasions of our high school years.

In the annual Prize Speaking Contest, Richard Keddy placed second in the boys' division.

The end of our exciting Junior year came, but not before Betty Neylon and Madeline Jedetski were selected for Massachusetts Girls' State and Gene Onorato and John Bentley were chosen to represent Barre High at Massachusetts Boys' State.

In September the Class of 1964 returned as a different group. We were no longer the same group of frightened freshmen who entered Barre High in 1960. We had grown up in many ways. We were Seniors now, with Mrs. O'Neill as our class advisor.

As Seniors, we planned a very eventful year. At our first class meeting we elected Ted Lylis, President; Bob Perkins, Vice President; Terry Falco, Secretary; Jane Cutting, Treasurer and Betty Neylon, Student Council Representative.

Our first project of the year was the annual Senior Bazaar, which was held on October 12, with Ted Lylis in charge. The day dawned sunny, windy, and cold, but the ambitious Seniors were up on the Barre Common bright and early. Their many hours of apple picking and preparation paid off, for the bazaar was a tremendous success. The HoBo Hop that evening was well attended and was also a financial success.

Barbara Brown was chosen chairman of the Senior Tea. Mr. Truran and a group of Seniors sang for the teachers and guests.

At last our turn came to reign supreme at the Ice Cream Social, as the result of winning the Magazine Drive. We had waited four years for this day, and it was a wild and hectic occasion.

Next we turned our attention to the Alumni Social. The festive decorations, the songs by a group of talented Seniors and the holiday refreshments all contributed to make this Social one of the most successful in years.

Despite their busy schedules, some of the Seniors found time for basketball and cheerleading. Bob Perkins, Gene Onorato, and Bob Puliafico played on the Varsity team, while Barbara Brown, Anita Swanson and Jane Cutting helped to cheer them on.

After Christmas vacation, rehearsals started for the Senior Play. It was entitled Curtain Going Up, and it was directed by Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Hopkins. The play was presented February 14 and 15 in Ruggles Lane auditorium. On both nights we had a full house. The play, a comedy in three acts, was thoroughly enjoyed by all, thanks to the superb acting of the cast.

By this time we had almost enough money to finance the class trip. A food sale was planned to overcome a slight shortage.

For days the Senior homeroom buzzed with the excitement of the trip. April 20, the day of departure, finally arrived. For the first time in school history, the Seniors travelled by bus. We had a wonderful time, and we were able to visit the World's Fair, as well as Washington D.C. and New York City.

Now our high school days are drawing to an end. From the 50 Freshmen that first entered Barre High four years ago, our class has dwindled down to 38 members, 19 boys and 19 girls. When the processional march begins at graduation, each member of the class will realize that no longer will we walk the familiar halls of Barre High again as students. All the things we have done together as a class will have come to an end. We will all be going our separate ways, each to seek his own success. But as each Senior receives his diploma, these sad thoughts will be pushed aside, and only memories of four wonderful and happy years at Barre High will remain, never to be forgotten.

Prophecy

Here it is already--1984. It hardly seems possible that 20 years have elapsed since the Class of 1964 graduated from Barre High School. Now all of us have gathered together for our 20-year reunion. We are all happy and prosperous, and many of us have become famous personalities.

Milton Scott, with the assistance of his competent associate, Dean Metcalfe, is now famous as a result of his successful development of a breed of cow that gives ready to drink chocolate milk.

Barbara Brown who began her career as surgical nurse at Worcester City Hospital could not resist the glamor of "Show Biz," so she may be seen each Thursday on television slapping instruments into the waiting hands of Dr. Kildare.

Joseph Fleming, an airplane pilot in the Marine Corps, recently crashed his plane into a pillow factory. Fortunately, he wasn't badly injured, but he was taken for observation to the hospital where Delores Salvo works as a nurses' aid. These two classmates had a good time recalling the "good old days" at Barre High School.

Dental hygienist, Teri Benedict, is now prominent in dental circles for her discovery that if you use Clorox just once, you'll never have to brush your teeth again.

Ted Lylis, associate professor of mathematics at Harvard, has decided to throw in his towel and accept the position of superintendent of schools that was recently vacated by his father.

Nancy Woodland, who married her high school sweetheart shortly after graduation, succeeded in attaining her goal as an elementary teacher. However, she retired shortly thereafter to raise a family. All her little pupils cried as their beloved teacher left them, and so did sentimental Nancy.

Madeline Jedetski, who after 20 years still loves to always be on the go, is a private secretary to the owner of the world's largest and most exclusive chain of hotels, Robert Perkins. As an extra bonus at Christmas time, Bob gave her an all-expense paid trip around the world. However, Madeline has gotten sick of seeing the world, and hopes that Bob will think of a better gift soon.

Gene Onorato is now a world-famous C.P.A., and last year he won the Nobel Prize in Accounting. He is also a director of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Pat Petronis was recently awarded a top secretarial job for which over 200 other girls applied. With her lovely smile and winning personality it's no wonder that she landed the job.

John Brewer, Robert Churinske, and Kevin Ward, all prosperous electricians in New York City, recently came back to little old Barre to light up the town, which had been in darkness for twenty years.

Mary Pante, one of the most popular hair stylists in the country, operates the Big-Wig Beauty Salon, where you may leave your hair to be set and pick it up later.

Ray Bryant recently finished work on his latest book, entitled, How to Master Trigonometry in Two Easy Lessons.

Donna Adomaitis and Phyllis Lam are such good typists that they are constantly sought after by many large offices. One office in New York recently offered them $20,000 each annually. However, these two modest women declined the offer, saying that they could type "only" 120 words a minute.

Jim Mirabile is now an internationally known photographer and is the owner of 55 studios.

Jane Cutting, an outstanding medical secretary, has just taken her third employer to the altar. She hopes to settle down now and raise a family.

John Bentley, one of the best machine fixers in the country, does special jobs for many large firms. He is so much in demand that he has hired Brenda Higgins as his private secretary. Brenda likes working for John, but she says she wishes he'd take time out to fix the air conditioner in her office. She says as it is now there's no happy medium--you either sweat or freeze.

Betty Neylon, although she has taught English for fifteen years, still hasn't managed to control her passion for science. Last week she blew up her third home laboratory trying to dissolve sodium in water. Leonard Bentley, the country's leading architect, is now working on plans for a laboratory that will be blow-up proof.

Little Terry Falco has been bombing around the country for the last fifteen years trying to choose a career. After trying teaching and nursing, she decided to try prospecting, and last year she found herself a husband. They are happily married, and are expecting an addition to the family soon.

Crash, bang--oh here come Reggie Lang and Ronald Phelps in their four-speed, dual quad, positraction wrecker to haul away the remains of another car. They have a very successful partnership and they both love excitement, especially auto wrecks!

Judy Regienus, formerly the executive secretary to the president of Ford Motor Company, is now happily married to him. She has seven cars (all Cadillacs), one for each day of the week.

Richard Keddy, the mad scientist of the class, is now prominent in scientific circles for his recent discovery of the newest element, Keddium.

Joyce Neri, happily married to an even-tempered red-head, still enjoys her job as secretary to a top Washington official. On her vacations she enjoys touring the country with her family in its private plane.

Linda Spinney, who journeyed all the way from London to attend the reunion, is now very happily married to Ringo Starr. She and her husband were accompanied to the reunion by their seven little Starrs.

John Soos, with his 567 cubic inch, 1984 Chevy, recently broke the quarter mile track record with a time of 3.27 seconds.

Anita Swanson, an outstanding social worker, who has devoted all her time and efforts to helping others, was recently honored by the President of the United States at a White House luncheon.

Irene March, the journalist of the class, has just been awarded the 1984 Nobel Prize for literature for her novel, entitled, Peachy's Place. We are all very proud of her.

Sandra Jordan, the wit of the class, is still as comical as ever, but now she is getting paid for it. She is the country's leading female comedienne. She will have her own weekly T.V. show starting this fall.

Ronald Martin, the lone male commercial student of the class, is now a successful businessman in San Francisco. He is president of a company which manufactures ladies' pipes.

Although Betty Ann Blackmer is now happily married and is the proud mother of twins, she likes her job as executive secretary to the President's wife so much that she goes to work while her husband stays home and watches the children.

Partners Bob Puliafico and Wayne Smith have just opened another brand-new service station. Their chain now contains 847 stations and encompasses the 50 states.

THE CLASS OF 1964 ANNOUNCES THAT:

Donna Adomaitis and Kevin Ward leave arm in arm.
Teri Benedict leaves in search of fire engine #1, fireman #5.

John Bentley leaves to "Charge up San Juan Hill."
Lenny Bentley leaves Mr. Zona "PRICELESS."

Phyllis Lam leaves her economics class--happily, for the last time.

Reggie Lang leaves in his Ramcharger.
Ted Lylis leaves the band without a trombone player.

Peachy March leaves her height to Margaret Mercik.
Ronald Martin leaves ready to take a trip to Washington.

James Mirabile leaves Mr. Blazis "doing EVERYTHING the right way."
Dean Metcalfe leaves for Spencer and that certain someone.

Betty Neylon and Linda Spinney leave their aptitudes for chemistry to a prominent scientist, Joanne Hale.
Gene Onorato, our pro-basketball player, leaves his enviable talent for making baskets to Jerry Phillips.

Mary Pante, our class hairdresser leaves a supply of hair spray and brush rollers to Veronica to help keep her hair exotic.
Bob Perkins leaves his height to the shortest boy on the basketball squad in 1965.

Pat Petronis leaves her paintbrushes and artistic talent to Joyce Vining, in hopes that Joyce will become another Picasso.
Bob Puliafico leaves the unexpected sparks of humor which characterized him to Harold Dahart.

Class Of 1965

Last September, as we entered the halls of Barre High once more, we were proud of our new title, upper classmen. Our advisors, Mr. Decelle and Mr. Porter, along with the class officers helped to make our year a successful one. The officers were: President, Richard Trio; Vice President, Joanne Hale; Secretary, Joyce Vining; Treasurer, Francine Jedetski and Student Council Representative, David Lylis.

Basketball held the interest of several members this year. Jerry Phillips, Donald Whigham, Chuck Hudson, Jim White and Dennis Crowley played on the team, while Chris Salvo, Joanne Hale and Joyce Vining, as cheerleaders, helped to cheer them on.

Rachael Williams honored us by capturing first place in the annual prize-speaking contest.

After a successful food sale and a spaghetti supper, plans got under way for our Junior Prom. Joanne Hale and Francine Jedetski were co-chairmen. After spending many hard-working nights in Gordon Sepanek's cellar, the decorations were finished and our long anticipated evening arrived. It was certainly a memorable occasion for all.

It is with great expectations, that we, the class of "65" look forward to our final year at B.H.S.

Class Of 1966

As we ascended the steps of Barre High, the fears we had felt last year as Freshmen vanished. We have paid dearly, but we are now Sophomores.

Our first business was the election of officers: Ralph Southwick, President; Roland Langelier, Vice President; Patricia Towle, Secretary; Steve Brewer, Treasurer, and Richard McQueston, Student Council Representative.

Joyce Keddy, as chairman of entertainment for our Sophomore Social, did an outstanding job. She received many compliments on her selection of skits. Judy Ryder and Ruth Klem did fine jobs as chairmen of the decoration and refreshment committees.

This year there was a change in the plans for the Ice Cream Social. The Juniors felt the impact of the mighty Sophomores as we roared into second place. The Juniors entertained. Don't cry Juniors, next year you can watch.

Many of the boys participated in sports this year. The newly-organized soccer team had quite a turnout from all the classes. Judy and Joyce maintained their posts on the cheering squad.

The annual Prize Speaking Contest was held at Fellowship Hall. Margaret Mercik and Irene Jackson placed second and third, respectively. All of us thank them for doing so well representing us.

The Sophomore year has been a new and thrilling experience for all of us, but time marches on, and we eagerly await next year and our Junior Prom.

Class Of 1967

When we, the Class of 1967, entered Barre High School, we were no different from any other Freshman class, with many fears of what was in store.

At our first meeting in the fall, we elected class officers: John Flint, President; Alpha Madsen, Vice President; Donna Hudson, Secretary; and John Rogowski, Treasurer.

The next thing on the agenda was the Magazine Drive. We upheld the usual Freshman place, last. Then came the Ice Cream Social and we were not surprised to find ourselves in the back of the hall doing exercises.

We are very pleased to have Michael Brown, a member of our class, playing on the basketball team. Several Boys are members of the baseball team: William Neylon, John Cutting, Fred DiLibero, John Rogowski, John Flint, and Charles O'Donnell.

We also have some girls on the Baton Squad: Paula Makovitch, Frances Ziemba, Gail Fox, Barbara McCauley, and Donna Hudson.

The Freshman Class of "67" would like to congratulate the four boys who took part in Prize Speaking. The winners were as follows: Ronald Keddy, first; Paul Flagg, second; William Neylon, third; and John Flint, fourth.

Our future years at Barre High are bound to be enjoyable and profitable.

John Flint, President; Donna Hudson, Secretary;
Alpha Madsen, Vice-President; John Rogowski, Treasurer.

BARBARA

Eight lively and pretty girls, under the leadership of Barbara Brown, did a fine job in adding life and vitality to the Cheering Squad of Barre High this year.

The Senior cheerleaders were Barbara Brown, Jane Cutting and Anita Swanson. The Juniors were Joanne Hale and Joyce Vining. The Sophomores were Judy Ryder and Joyce Keddy.

The girls were coached by Mrs. Merton Baker, who helped in making this year a successful one.

VARSITY TEAM

The 1963-64 Basketball team had a good season in spite of a losing record. They played an excellent game and showed the result of expert coaching on the part of Mr. Cronin.

In the Tri-State Tournament they won their first game from Sanderson Academy, but were defeated in a close game by Charlemont High School, the eventual winner of the tournament.

This has been a "building" year and we can look forward to a successful season next winter.
